Family members, friends, and members of the Iranian community came together at the Ottawa Mosque Thursday to say goodbye to Yazdan Ghiasvand Ghiasi.

The death of the 16-year-old has shocked the community after autopsy results confirmed he died of a gunshot wound after being dumped on the side of Booth Street Monday morning.

Dozens of men gathered around the plain wooden casket of the slain teen, covered with a large green cloth, as it was brought inside the mosque.

Loud sobs could be heard from a group of women overlooking the ceremony on the second level, with their hands covering their faces. Down below, Yazdan's father, Ali, was clutching the wooden casket as other men consoled him during the imam's prayer service.

As the pallbearers carried the casket outside, Yazdan's mother, Negin, was overwhelmed with emotion and began shouting her son's name. MORE COVERAGE, PAGE 2

'It changes their world'

Pain from the loss of a loved one amplified around the holidays, experts on grief agree

TRACEY TONG/METRO

▶ Pallbearers carry the casket of Yazdan Ghiasvand Ghiasi from the Ottawa Mosque yesterday. Sudden, tragic deaths of young people affect not just family and friends, but the whole community, counsellors said Thursday.

The family and friends of slain teenager Yazdan Ghiasvand Ghiasi suffered a terrible loss this week, but every time the community loses a young person, everyone suffers, an Ottawa-based counsellor said Thursday.

"It's about the worst thing a parent could endure," said Jane Langmaid, whose area of expertise includes parents and teens.

"But it's difficult for siblings and friends, too — it may be the first time that young people consider death, when one of their own dies. It changes their world."

Outside the family, it has a widespread effect, causing grief and alarm in the community, "but some of those effects are positive, in that people can say, 'I love you' more," she said.

"I think it's difficult any time of year, whether they lose someone in December or February. But the holiday season is especially difficult, when there are so many reminders."
DEBORAH KROGAN, BEREAVED FAMILIES OF ONTARIO-OTTAWA REGION

When the death is sudden — Ghiasi was shot in the chest before being dumped out onto Booth Street and left to die Monday — there's no preparation, which makes it "excruciatingly difficult," said Langmaid.

Even if they have already had death in their lives, losing a member of the family they didn't expect to lose can be difficult, said Deborah Krogan, program co-ordinator of the Bereaved Families of Ontario-Ottawa Region.

And when that person is lost due to violence, it makes it more difficult.

There's media coverage, which is a constant reminder of the loss, and then there's the matter of dealing with court issues, she said.

"It's not always there when loss happens in other ways," she said. "It increases the level of complication."

Another recent example is the suicide of 14-year-old Daron Richardson last month. When the Richardsons made the circumstances of their daughter's death public, it likely helped the family with their healing process, said Krogan.

Harkat a terror threat, judge rules

42-year-old has instructed counsel to appeal, one of his lawyers says

A judge says there are grounds to believe Algerian-born Mohamed Harkat is a security threat who maintained ties to Osama bin Laden's terror network after coming to Canada.

The Federal Court decision Thursday could pave the way for Harkat's deportation to his native country.

In a separate ruling, Judge Simon Noel upheld the constitutionality of the national security certificate system the government is using to remove Harkat, which denies the person named full access to the evidence.

Harkat, a former gas bar attendant and pizza delivery man, was arrested eight years ago on suspicion of being an al-Qaida sleeper agent. He is free on bail under strict conditions.

Harkat did not offer credible, honest testimony to the court, but instead delivered a carefully memorized story, Noel said in his ruling on the certificate.

THE CANADIAN PRESS

Conclusions

The judge concluded that Harkat:

- Demonstrated active membership in a group involved in terrorist activities in Chechnya through operation of a guest house in Pakistan.
- Visited Afghanistan during his stay in Pakistan, contrary to his testimony.
- Had links to Al Gamaa Al Islamiya, an Islamic extremist group in Egypt.
- Maintained contacts with well-known Islamic radicals.

Charges loom in stabbing

CRIME Charges of attempted murder and forcible confinement are pending as Ottawa police investigate a domestic stabbing incident that occurred Thursday morning on Oxford Street near Parkdale and Wellington. Police said a male, 50, and a woman, 45, suffered multiple stab wounds. A 25-year-old male was taken into custody.

Woman killed in rollover

FATALITY. A 24-year-old woman was killed after the vehicle she was a passenger in rolled over in the Russell area Thursday. Just after 2 a.m., paramedics received a call about a collision near Boundary and Hamilton roads. The male driver, 25, walked to a nearby house to call 911, paramedics said. He was taken to hospital with injuries. The woman was declared deceased on scene.

2 charged after drug seizure

CRIME. Police charged two Ottawa women and seized crack cocaine, marijuana, morphine and stolen property after executing a search warrant in Vanier Wednesday. After a three-month investigation, police said officers searched an Olmstead Street residence. Nimo Yussuf, 25, and Qamar Osman, 20, were charged with possession, possession of property obtained by crime and breach of recognizance.

War through artistic eyes

Since 1968, about 70 artists have depicted Canadian Forces at war and peace ◐ Exhibit features 64 works

STEVE COLLINS
OTTAWA@METRONEWS.CA

When William MacDonnell followed Canadian soldiers as an embedded artist, it wasn't always a pretty picture.

He remembers a graveyard in Croatia: "The extent of hatred here was really quite hard to believe ... You could look down into the tombs and see where they had actually opened up the tombs, pulled peoples' ancestors out and scattered their bones all over."

MacDonnell's paintings and those of other official Canadian war artists appear in A Brush with War: Military Art from Korea to Afghanistan, opening at the Canadian War Museum today and running until March 20.

MacDonnell said his strongest memories of Croatia and Afghanistan are of the accessibility of the soldiers.

"You could ask any questions you wanted. But I think it was also prefaced by the fact that I said 'We're not media.'"

Rental market relaxes

Average rent for a two-bedroom unit in Ottawa rose 3.7 per cent in 2009

STEVE COLLINS
OTTAWA@METRONEWS.CA

A softer youth job market and competition from the condo sector made it a bit easier to find an apartment in Ottawa's tight rental market this year, according to the Canadian Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

CMHC's annual Rental Market Report pegged Ottawa's vacancy rate at 1.6 per cent in October, up from 1.5 per cent at the same time last year. This bucked a provincewide trend, which saw apartment vacancies drop from 3.5 to 2.9 per cent.

"Although the vacancy rate in Ottawa edged up slightly in 2010, Ottawa continues to have one of the lowest vacancy rates in the country," said Sandra Perez-Torres, CMHC's senior market analyst for the Ottawa region. "Increasing prices in the home ownership market coupled with high migration into the city kept the rental market tight."

Angry mob attacks Prince Charles' limo

Heir to the throne keeps his royal cool, pushes wife to the floor of car

Prince Charles in his tuxedo looks anxiously ahead as a protester's fist pounds on his car.

His wife Camilla's mouth opens in shock.

These are the dramatic images captured as student protesters vented their anger on the most elite of targets — a car containing the heir to the throne.

The couple were heading to a London theatre Thursday when their Rolls Royce met a volatile gang of demonstrators.

The royal Rolls was attacked with fists, boots and bottles.

"Off with their heads!" the mob chanted.

20 Up to 20 attackers surrounded Charles' limousine and pounded it with fists and bottles, smashing a window and splashing the car with paint.

The protesters had broken off from a large student rally and were spreading mayhem among Christmas shoppers.

They broke a Starbucks window and overturned a couple of postcard stands.

After a few chaotic minutes, the the royal couple's car managed to drive off. They were unhurt.

Charles kept calm, a witness said, and gently pushed his wife toward the floor to get her out of the line of fire. British Prime Minister David Cameron called the security lapse "shocking and regrettable."

Number of moms in workforce surges

- Majority of women still work traditional jobs
- Impact of economic downturn less severe for women

A new study has found the percentage of mothers who work despite having young children has more than doubled in a little over three decades.

Statistics Canada says the employment rate for women with children under the age of three was 64.4 per cent last year, more than twice the proportion of 27.6 per cent in 1976.

In 2009, 72.9 per cent of women with children under the age of 16 living at home were employed, nearly twice the rate of 39.1 per cent recorded in 1976.

StatsCan says about 8.1 million women worked last year, or 58.3 per cent of Canada's working-age females — markedly less than the 65.2 per cent of men.

Last year, 67 per cent of employed women worked in teaching, nursing and related health occupations, clerical or other administrative positions, or sales-and-service occupations. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Harper wishes Doug Finley a 'speedy recovery'

Prime Minister's campaign manager battles cancer

JAKE WRIGHT/ THE CANADIAN PRESS

▶ Doug Finley.

When Prime Minister Stephen Harper publicly wished a "speedy recovery" to his campaign manager at the Conservative caucus Christmas party this week, some took it as a signal a federal election is looming.

But sometimes well wishes are just well wishes, and in the case of Doug Finley the prime minister owes him a profound debt of gratitude. Finley, 64, is battling cancer.

After missing much of the autumn, the Conservative senator recently appeared in the upper chamber, gaunt and ashen, to help the Tory-dominated Senate finance committee vote down a bill designed to preserve disability benefits for former Nortel employees.

It's the kind of trench work he's famous for in the capital, even if most Canadians have never heard of the man.

The Scotsman "lives for campaigning" according to Tom Flanagan, Harper's former chief of staff.

"We could never have won in 2006 without Doug Finley's organizational ability ...," Flanagan wrote in his book Harper's Team.

Finley has a reputation for doing his job without fear or favour. He's also the master of the button-pushing, Conservative party fundraising letter.

At a Wednesday night Christmas soiree, Harper dedicated The Proclaimers tune I'm On My Way, to his "favourite Scotsman."

It may not mean an election is imminent, but Conservatives can only hope Finley is ready to answer the bell whenever the writ does drop.

"He's proven that he knows how to win and that's a very valuable commodity in politics," said Tim Powers, a well-connected Tory lobbyist in Ottawa. THE CANADIAN PRESS

SIU gets officers' names

Special Investigations Unit resumes its probe into protester's G20 injuries ◐ Spokesman says police investigators identified 14 officers who were in the area ◐ Toronto Police Service also conducting internal inquiry

The names of 14 Toronto police officers have been given to the Special Investigations Unit as it probes injuries a man suffered during his arrest at the G20 summit.

A protester named Adam Nobody, 27, suffered a facial fracture below his right eye during his June 26 arrest at a demonstration at the Ontario legislature.

Images published on Wednesday show Nobody being beaten with a baton by an officer in riot gear while being held on the ground by several officers.

The SIU resumed its probe last week after initially closing the case, saying there appeared to be an excessive use of force but the officers involved couldn't be identified.

Morrison pardoned

This is the end for the wild concert 41 years ago that left Jim Morrison marked with what today would be considered sex-offender status.

Florida's Clemency Board, egged on by departing Gov. Charlie Crist, pardoned The Doors' long-dead singer Thursday on indecent exposure and profanity charges stemming from the show.

Some people who were at the Miami concert March 1, 1969, insist even today that he exposed himself, though others in the audience and Morrison's bandmates contend he was just teasing the crowd and only pretended to do the deed.

Judge upholds firings over Facebook comments

- Lawyer says 'plenty more' such cases to come
- Postings made while employees were at work

Add Canada to the list of places where Facebook can be hazardous to your employment status.

Two workers at a B.C. car dealership were sacked for what they wrote about their employer and their managers on Facebook. And the B.C. Labour Relations Board has upheld their dismissal.

The incident, which occurred in Pitt Meadows just west of Vancouver, is believed to be the first such case in Canada.

"It's the first Facebook case that has made it to hearing at least," said Donald Richards, the lawyer who handled it for the employer, but he added there are likely plenty more to come.

"I think they're in the hopper now."

In this case, the two employees left few defamatory stones unturned. One or the other slagged their employer, accusing the business of being crooked, accused managers of performing homosexual acts together and mused about committing acts of violence against them.

"I think I was fortunate in the sense that I had pretty extreme facts," said Richards.

In addition, one of the managers in question was a Facebook "friend" of the two, at least for part of the time in question.

Lines in the social media sand

The fact this happened on Facebook, and not in person on the workplace floor, doesn't change things, suggest experts.

"It's too easy for people to say anything goes here," said Randall Craig, a consultant and author of the recently released Social Media for Business.

Protesters cry out for Nobel winner's release

Liu Xiaobo, a literary critic and democracy activist, is serving an 11-year sentence on subversion charges

Pro-democracy advocates marched on the Chinese Embassy in Oslo on Thursday, demanding that China release imprisoned Nobel Peace Prize winner Liu Xiaobo.

Chanting "Freedom to Liu! Freedom for China!" about 100 protesters tried to deliver a petition with more than 100,000 signatures urging the dissident's release from a Chinese prison before being diverted by police away from the embassy gates.

The protest came on the eve of the Nobel prize ceremony, where the 54-year-old Liu will be represented by an empty chair. Friday will be the first time the peace prize will not be handed out since 1936, when Adolf Hitler prevented German pacifist Carl von Ossietzky from accepting the award.

Chinese authorities have placed Liu's supporters, including his wife, Liu Xia, under house arrest to prevent anyone from picking up his prize.

China was infuriated when the prestigious $1.4-million prize was awarded to Liu, describing it as an attack on its political and legal system.

Hackers, UN back WikiLeaks

UN official calls online skirmish 'cyber war' Analyst 'surprised at how effective' hackers have been

WIKI LEAKS

Skirmishes raged across cyberspace yesterday between WikiLeaks supporters and the companies they accuse of trying to stifle the group, with websites on both sides of the battle taken out of service or choked off by attacks.

The UN's top human rights official raised the alarm over officials' and corporations' moves to cut WikiLeaks's funding and starve it of server space — something she described as "potentially violating WikiLeaks' right to freedom of expression."

Navi Pillay, the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights, was surprised at the scale of the online attacks that have targeted major American financial players — in some cases denying access to their websites for hours at a time.

WikiLeaks has been under intense pressure since publishing U.S. State Department cables, with attacks on its websites and threats against its founder, Julian Assange, who is now in British jail fighting extradition to Sweden on sex crime allegations.

MasterCard Inc., Visa Inc., Amazon.com, PayPal Inc. and EveryDNS have cut ties with WikiLeaks due to U.S. government pressure, which has hurt WikiLeaks' ability to accept donations and support publishing efforts.

Analyst Paul Mutton said the number of computers spewing out spam went to 2,000 Wednesday from 400 — relatively small numbers, he said, but still apparently enough to overwhelm MasterCard and Visa.

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Hacktivists"

Retaliatory attacks — which WikiLeaks says it does not sanction — have been claimed by a loose-knit group who gather under the handle "Anonymous."

They're using a modified version of software generally used to conduct "stress testing" on websites, according to Paul Mutton, an analyst with London-based Internet research and security company Netcraft, which is tracking the attacks.

Bands seek veto over oilsands

Treaty rights give aboriginal groups some influence

Two aboriginal bands in Alberta say their treaty rights have been violated by industrial overuse of the Athabasca River and they want veto power over some new oilsands projects.

The Athabasca Chipewyan and the Mikisew Cree made the claim Thursday after releasing a study documenting how low river levels restrict their ability to use their land, most of which can only be reached by boat. One Mikisew elder estimated that 80 per cent of the band's traditional territory is inaccessible for weeks at a time during the spring and summer. Other lakes and creeks have simply gone dry.

That breaks treaty guarantees of being able to use their land for subsistence and to pass down their culture to young people, said elder Pat Marcel of Fort Chipewyan. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Billionaires pledge to give away at least half their wealth before or after they die

Another 17 of America's richest people, including Facebook's Mark Zuckerberg, junk bond pioneer Michael Milken and AOL co-founder Steve Case, have pledged to give away most of their wealth.

They are the latest to join the Giving Pledge, an effort led by Microsoft founder Bill Gates and investor Warren Buffett to commit the country's wealthiest people to step up their charitable donations.

They've now signed up 57 people and their families.

The list also includes New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg, CNN founder Ted Turner and film director George Lucas.

Each person who chooses to pledge makes their statement publicly, unveiling a letter explaining their decision.

The group describes itself as a moral commitment to give, not a legal contract.

It does not involve pooling money or supporting a particular set of causes or organizations.

Of the latest names added to the list, Mark Zuckerberg stands out. Only recently coming into his fortune, he is certainly one of the Pledge's youngest members.

Girl drives home safety message

A young New Brunswick girl whose parents were killed four years ago in an accident involving an impaired driver is making a public plea for people not to drink and drive.

Sixteen-year-old Kali O'Dell says people need to make smart choices because such an accident could happen to them.

This was part of Thursday's launch of Operation Christmas — a campaign by RCMP to reduce highway fatalities.

Drunk driving

So far this year, 73 people have been killed on roads patrolled by the RCMP, up from 57 in 2009.

Increase Alcohol is believed to have been a factor in 40 per cent of the fatalities this year — a big increase compared to 25 per cent last year.

Former Jewish leader gets jail time in porn case

Ex-director of Montreal Holocaust Memorial Centre given minimum sentence in child pornography bust

A former Quebec director of B'nai Brith has received the minimum 45-day jail term after earlier pleading guilty to a child-pornography charge.

Bill Surkis will serve the time on weekends, beginning Saturday.

A judge ruled in Montreal on Thursday that Surkis must also do 240 hours of community service and be on probation for three years.

The Crown and defence both agreed the 71-year-old Surkis should receive the minimum sentence allowed by law.

The former Jewish community leader pleaded guilty in May to possessing child pornography after he turned himself in to police a year earlier.

Police found 21 videos on his computer, with some depicting girls between the ages of six and 14 engaging in sex with adults.

The Crown wanted to have Surkis declared a registered sex offender, but the judge decided not to put him on the national registry and also did not order a DNA sample to be taken.

During his sentencing hearing in October, the grandfather expressed remorse and told court he was totally devastated.

Surkis was described in a pre-sentencing report as curious by nature and wanting to know more about child porn.

Police found video material totalling eight hours and 42 minutes on his computer.

How to Help Prevent Children's Cavities!

We believe that all parents are interested in helping their children remain virtually cavity-free so they can grow up with healthy, vibrant smiles to last a lifetime.

Armed with a little knowledge about cavity formation, you can help to save your children from the stress of cavity related dental visits.

Fact is, when it comes to cavity development, oral bacteria are public enemy #1. Literally millions of bacteria live in our mouths, feeding upon left over food particles and creating damaging acid which in turn eats into tooth enamel causing cavities. To counter the potentially destructive effects of such oral bacteria, effective home-based oral hygiene procedures are essential.

If your child is still an infant, a fresh wet gauze pad will cleanse the mouth by wiping away bacteria-laden plaque from the teeth and gums. Parents need to teach children how to properly brush their own teeth, however because children under the age of 6 or 7 normally have the manual dexterity to effectively brush their teeth, parents should always gently re-brush their teeth to assure proper oral cleansing.

Remember, tooth decay occurs faster in children than in adults and by brushing your child's teeth you're removing the plaque/bacteria responsible for tooth decay. Teaching your children how to brush is very important because it will establish good oral habits that last a lifetime.

It's also important to make sure that your children get an adequate amount of flouride because flouride incorporates itself into tooth enamel making it more resistant to acid attacks, and thus is considered to be an important factor in the decrease in cavities among children.

Most Canadian children get adequate amounts of flouride because it's usually added to municipal water supplies, however if you have a non-flouridated water supply you should consult your physician about flouride supplements. Remember though, as with other vitamins and minerals essential for healthy development, too much of a good thing can be detrimental. Excessive flouride can result in a condition called flourosis causing brown spots to appear on the teeth. Children need only a pea-sized dab of toothpaste on the brush because sometimes they can get tooth much flouride toothpaste. Teach them to spit the toothpaste out after brushing, instead of swallowing it.

Finally, try to make tooth brushing fun rather than a chore which must be done. Enthusiasm is contagious so if you're enthusiastic about brushing your teeth, your children will be too because children are great emulators and tend to want to do the things their parents do.

Yours for better dental health,

Dr. David J. Halpin

Supreme Court lifts reporting ban on murder case that took place in April of this year

FAMILY HANDOUT

▶ Tori Stafford and her brother Daryn

The publication ban that kept the outcome of a high-profile Ontario murder trial under wraps for months sounded alarm bells for legal observers across the country and resulted in the secret conviction of a troubled teenager, experts said Thursday.

The ban was enacted in a Woodstock, Ont. courtroom April 30 when Terri-Lynne McClintic pleaded guilty to first-degree murder in Tori Stafford's death and was sentenced to life in prison.

The lawyer for McClintic's co-accused, Michael Rafferty, sought to maintain the ban, arguing it was needed to preserve his client's right to a fair trial.

The resulting restrictions forbid the press from reporting any details about the proceedings, including that they took place at all.

This drew condemnation from six of Canada's prominent media outlets.

A judge lifted much of the ban in May, but reporters remained bound by the earlier one while counsel sought leave to appeal the matter to the Supreme Court of Canada On Thursday the court declined to hear that appeal, delivering what Iain MacKinnon, the lawyer for the media outlets, described as a "qualified victory" for freedom of expression. German 'hippy' in the dock over marijuana Christmas tree

German police say an "old hippy" is facing possible prosecution for his version of the, ahem, highest Christmas tree — a festively decorated two-metre tall marijuana plant.

Koblenz police spokesman Ralf Schomisch says officers raided the apartment of the 58-year-old man following a tip Monday and uncovered a cache of 150 grams of marijuana.

Then in the living room they discovered the tree — a pot plant adorned with Christmas lights.

The suspect, whose name was not released, said he had planned to decorate it further and putting presents under it at Christmas.

But it was not to be. Schomisch said that authorities "had to destroy this pre-Christmas dream." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Women fared better during the recession

More than 55% of doctors, dentists were women in '09

Women fared better during the recession, thanks to a pattern of employment in industries less susceptible to economic shifts and an increasing presence in high paying professions.

When it comes to employment numbers women were hit less hard than men during the economic downturn. They also continued to hold far more part-time jobs than men, but made significant gains in professions where they would earn a higher paycheque.

In 2009, the employment rate for women was 58.3 per cent, a one per cent dip from a historic high of 59.3 per cent in 2008. By comparison, in 2009 the employment rate for men was 65.2 per cent, a 2.9 per cent decline from the previous year.

The jobless rate for women was still high, hitting seven per cent in 2009, the highest since 2003. For men it reached 9.4 per cent in 2009, the highest rate since '96. TORSTAR NEWS SERVICE

▶ Investment banker Steve Losty headed the top Movember fundraising team on the planet, narrowly shaving rival Australia for first place.

5 MINUTES WITH: STEVE LOSTY

The CIBC investment banker out-'stached the competition by corralling his team — and, by extension, Canada — to raise the most money for Movember.

Congratulations! That's got to feel good.
Yeah, I mean this is the third year we've done it and CIBC is pretty charity-focused, but this was a relatively new one for us. I think it opens up the idea of charity to that 25- to 35-year-old male who's probably not a big United Way giver, for example, but who would get behind something like this.
What do you think propelled your team to first place?
I think it's just numbers. We had something like 260 people participating so the more people you get, the more the fundraising dollars go up. Rick McCreary was our top fundraiser and a lot of his fundraising was through the clients he's worked with over the years who are probably right in the demographic of those affected by this disease.
How did you rally everyone on your team to the top?
Harassed them (laughs). We've got some great, creative folks in our marketing group that sent out some funny weekly updates. And a big thing on Bay Street generally is rankings; who's raising more money than who. So we did have a lot of friendly competition as well, and that was a good way of motivating people to raise more.
Be honest: Which one of you grew the best 'stache?
You know, Rick's was pretty good. We haven't actually awarded the best 'stache, we'll probably do that later.
How did your 'stache stack up?
It wasn't that great. I got hooked up to Canada AM last week for the shave down, so I had to get it shaved off on TV, which was pretty embarrassing. All for a good cause, though.
Best part of the experience for you?
The best part is knowing we raised a lot of money for a good cause and played a part in growing the campaign. Last year it raised $8 million in Canada and this year it looks like it's heading toward $21 million.
Any plans to go to (second-place) Australia just to gloat?
(Laughs) No, not yet. I think some of the Australian firms like Macquarie have started to step it up into corporate dollar matching because I think they were a little irritated not having raised the most. ● JORDANA DIVON

Letters & Tweets

We asked: What do you think about Don Cherry getting involved in politics?

TORONTO. Don Cherry involved in politics? If Don had brains he would really be dangerous. He doesn't like French hockey players, Russian hockey players and Swedish hockey players all being "unCanadian." Who does he like? Anyone with pockets full of cash, and the little guy, or pinkos as he calls us, are we not supposed to have an opinion that differs from his? The word democracy is not in his vocabulary.

To remind Don, a little man called Tommy Douglas was voted the most famous Canadian by Canadians and Don, you weren't even close on the ballot. Pinko beats out sour Grapes. J. CONNELLY

TORONTO. The taxpayers of Toronto were offended by seven years of inefficiency and abuse on our quality of life by a left-leaning council (a.k.a. left-wing pinkos). Don Cherry gave a three-minute speech, which has no legislative impact and the sensitive residual left-wing councillors are offended? Get over it.

I was at city hall and the crowd laughed at Cherry's speech and moved on. The last council did harm to us, Don Cherry's speech has not. And I ride a bicycle! MICHAEL N.W. BAIGEL

▶ Jeff Bridges stars in Tron: Legacy, which opens next Friday.

After 28 years, Tron nets Bridges again

Actor impressed, intimidated by the technology used to let him play his younger self ◐ Tron: Legacy pushes boundaries like its predecessor

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

Although 28 years have passed between Tron and the new Tron: Legacy, it didn't exactly feel that way for star Jeff Bridges. "It's like we had a long weekend and we're just back doing the same work. It's crazy," he says. Yet Bridges says making the decision to return to the computerized world of Tron wasn't easy — but then no decision is for him.

"I have a lot of hesitation making any kind of decision in my life. I'm really slow at it," he says. "My mother says that I have abulia. It's like a mental disorder, I guess — having difficulty making decisions."

One of the factors aiding Bridges' indecision was the technology used in the new film, which like its predecessor pushes the technical boundaries of filmmaking. "With this one, I thought, Oh God, are they going to pull it off?" Bridges says.

The most high-profile technical trick on display involves Clu, one of the two characters Bridges plays in the film — only Clu looks like the actor did decades ago. The filmmakers used the techniques that made Brad Pitt age in The Curious Case of Benjamin Button to rejuvenate Bridges. It's something that leaves Bridges' mind blown, to put it lightly.

"I thought we could use a modern-day myth about the challenge of technology and how we're going to surf that particular wave." JEFF BRIDGES, ON THE MESSAGE THE FILM CARRIES.

"It's wild to be able to go back there and play different ages. It opens up a whole world," he says. "And they'll be able to combine actors. I don't know quite how I feel about this, but that's coming up, too. Just to say, you know, 'Let's get Boxleitner and Bridges, and put a little Brando in there. See what happens.' And then they can hire some other actor to drive that image that they've created. It's getting pretty crazy."

So does that mean he'll now be competing with younger co-stars like Garrett Hedlund for roles? Because certainly they'd take issue with that. The idea makes Bridges laugh. "No, I haven't thought about that," he says. "That's funny."

Of course, Bridges sees Tron: Legacy as more than just a movie, even a technologically groundbreaking one.

Where's Oscar?

Life changing. Jeff Bridges' Academy Award win earlier this year for Crazy Heart has certainly changed his life, but he's just not sure how yet. "I think it has, but I haven't really figured that out entirely, because about a day after the Oscars I went right to work on True Grit," he says. As for where to put the little gold guy, the preternaturally playful actor had one idea that has yet to come to fruition. "They didn't really do this, but I thought it would be fun. I was going to ask my wife or my kids or whoever, 'Take this and hide it at different spots in the house. We can discover it,'" Bridges says with a grin.

Timberlake gets geeky

- Actor-musician loved getting back to his childhood favourite
- Enjoyed working with Aykroyd

▶ Justin Timberlake does the voice of Boo Boo in Yogi Bear, which comes out next Friday.

NED EHRBAR
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA
METRO WORLD NEWS IN LOS ANGELES

Justin Timberlake is quickly learning that to properly express how he feels about his turn as soft-spoken sidekick Boo Boo in the new Yogi Bear movie, he'll have to let his nerd flag fly.

"At the risk of ruining my social life," he begins cautiously, "I would entertain my parents by imitating Scooby Doo and Boo Boo — all the cartoon voices. You know that about me now, which is weird."

After impressing critics earlier this year in The Social Network, Timberlake was happy to take on something a little simpler.

"I did a film about the birth of social networking, and it drove me crazy even being a part of that movie," he says. "It's way beyond my brain span."

The combination of live action and animation in Yogi Bear means Timberlake's job was all in the recording studio, and it hasn't escaped him that he and Dan Aykroyd, who voices Yogi, had the easier job in the film, compared to his flesh-and-blood co-stars.

"Anna (Faris) and Tom (Cavanagh), they had way harder jobs than we did," he says. "I've never worked in that way where you're looking at tennis balls or leaves as reference points."

The key to nailing Yogi and Boo Boo's chemistry was to go against the traditional process for animated films, in which the actors come in one by one to record their parts. Instead, Timberlake and Aykroyd worked together.

"We had two or three sessions together because we really did see this as a Batman and Robin — if you will — sort of duo," Timberlake says. "It really made a difference with the rhythm of the banter between Yogi and Boo Boo. It was a very cool collaboration. We had a lot of fun doing it."

But while his job consisted of hanging out in a recording studio goofing off with Aykroyd, there was still actual work to be done.

"Getting the voice of Boo Boo, I had someone on hand with the old '60s and '70s cartoons and I would sit there and listen to it in between takes and before we would start our sessions," he says. "It would take me 15 to 20 minutes to really get — this is all really boring, geeky vocal stuff — but to get your palate to the right level of the character. So after the first 20 minutes, I would go back and re-record everything we'd done in the first half hour because you just get in the pocket of the tone and inflection."

Timberlake stops, shaking his head. "I'm really killing any sort of coolness I had before I got here," he says.

The Tourist should have stayed home

The Tourist
Genre: Action/Thriller
Director: Florian Henckel von Donnersmarck
Stars: Johnny Depp, Angelina Jolie and Paul Bettany

After his blistering 2007 drama The Lives of Others, anytime German director Florian Henckel von Donnersmarck makes a movie, this critic stands at full attention. Shame then that his splashy Hollywood debut The Tourist is so crushingly inert, a pretty, high gloss dud that exhibits little of the sizzle that made Others such a visceral ride.

Johnny Depp dials it down as a nebbishy math teacher vacationing abroad, who brushes up against (there are worse fates) smoldering British she-spy Angelina Jolie and gets himself deeply mired in a convoluted plot involving Russian baddies and government secrets all set against the always gorgeous, cinema-friendly backdrop of Venice. It's a romantic action caper flick that has no fire lit under it, coasting on its star power and offering few — if any — genuine thrills or intrigue.

Henckel von Donnersmarck's direction is klutzy, trying to emulate the fish out of water hijinks of Hitchcock romps like North By Northwest and jamming the action into an exotic (for the average American anyway) and romantic European framework. It simply never takes off and if anything Depp and Jolie's familiar presence distracts, with Depp especially bland and uninteresting.

Still, as flawed as it is, there is a certain meandering fascination to the picture and it might actually play better on the home screen on a lazy Sunday afternoon, when expectations are nil and interrupted by the odd nap.

● CHRIS ALEXANDER

The Chronicles of Narnia: The Voyage of the Dawn Treader
Genre: Fantasy
Director: Michael Apted
Stars: Georgie Henley, Ben Barnes
●●½

At 113 minutes, the third big-screen adaptation of C.S. Lewis's Narnia book series may be the franchise's most adroit, but the brevity is not without its cost. When young Lucy and Edmund Pevensie (along with their perpetually annoying cousin) are sucked back into Narnia, they set forth on an island-hopping quest for magical swords that will save the fantastical world from doom. Simple enough, but with seven sabers and a schooner-load of adventures to be had, director Michael Apted overloads the film by attempting to fit everything in, stifling its momentum. As such, the story is harshly frantic and shallow even if its effects and chatty creatures entertain the kids. ● STEVE GOW

Marwencol
Genre: Documentary
Director: Jeff Maimberg
●●●½

Truth is stranger and more moving than fiction in Jeff Maimberg's award-winning documentary Marwencol, which profiles an assault victim who has sublimated his mental trauma by creating a sprawling miniature town in his backyard. As a case study of the intricacy of mental disability, Marwencol is fascinating; as a portrait of a man retreating from reality by attempting to create his own — and succeeding — it's both inspiring and heartbreaking.

● ADAM NAYMAN

Uncle Boonmee Who Can Recall His Past Lives
Genre: Comdey/Fantasy
Director: Apichatpong Weerasethakul
Stars: Sakda Kaewbuadee, Thanapat Saisaymar
●●●●●

Thai wunderkind Apichatpong Weerasathakul's Palme D'Or winner lives up to the hype and then some. This gentle, wondrous narrative of recurrence and reincarnation — focused on the last days of a dying farmer — is cinema at its most adventurous. Not to mention generous: even as his formal mastery grows, Apichatpong leaves plenty of space for the viewer to tease out the film's supple, suggestive meanings. Indelible image: a jungle nighttime dotted by the glowing eyes of indigenous phantoms, watching us watching them. ● ADAM NAYMAN

THE '80S HAD SOME GREAT KIDS' FILMS

▶ A young Sean Astin in a scene from The Goonies, one of the most memorable kids movies from the '80s.

Once upon a time Disney had a corner on the kid's action adventure market. Sunday at six was reserved for the Walt Disney's Wonderful World of Color and for a couple of hours once a week, movies like Race from Witch Mountain, Kidnapped and Treasure Island mixed plucky kids, mild action, exotic locations and lots of adventure.

The genre hasn't gone away. New movies like this weekend's The Chronicles of Narnia: The Voyage of the Dawn Treader still give kids a thrill ride, but I still get a nostalgic kick out of older, simpler action adventure flicks.

Though it wasn't a Disney film, The Goonies breathes the same air as Walt's kids classics. The adventure begins when a group of kids calling themselves The Goonies find One-Eyed Willy's treasure map. Sprinkle in some crazy inventions, a baddie played by Throw Mama from the Train star Anne Ramsey, a title track by Cyndi Lauper and Spielberg-esque storytelling and you have one of the best loved kids romps from the 1980s.

Speaking of Spielberg, without his ET we wouldn't have had Flight of the Navigator. After ET's successful mix of kids and aliens a whole slew of movies tried to cash in on that formula. The story of a 12-year-old boy who disappears, only to return eight years later without having aged a day had it all: intelligence, a glib navigational computer and a cameo by Sarah Jessica Parker as a NASA orderly with punk rock pink hair.

Two other early '80s fantasy adventure films feature wild creatures and magical lands, a perfect combo for a classic adventure.

In The NeverEnding Story, a young hero must save his country, Fantasia, from something even worse than an evil king. He must stop a creeping wave of nothingness. It may be the most existential kids movie ever, but woven into the fabric of the story are cool characters like the Rockbiter and Gmork the evil wolf.

Perhaps the best, although most underrated fantasy film is 1982's The Dark Crystal. Directed by Muppet master Jim Henson, the film sees a Gelfling setting off to find the missing piece of a magical crystal in order to restore to his world. A minor hit when it was released, this masterful kid's movie is finally getting a much deserved sequel, The Power of the Dark Crystal, scheduled for release in 2011.

In Sofia's Hollywood, brunettes have all the fun

Modern Family bombshell Sofia Vergara says the roles came pouring in after she dyed her blonde mane

▶ Actress Sofia Vergara was nominated for an Emmy for her role as feisty, Colombian trophy wife Gloria on Fox's Modern Family.

TIFFANY ROSE
METRO WORLD NEWS, HOLLYWOOD

When Colombian actress Sofia Vergara first arrived in Hollywood, she was told she wasn't Latin enough for roles.

"I am a natural blonde," she reveals. "I even have blonde eyelashes, and so I would go to auditions and they didn't know how to cast me because I had the strong accent; I had the attitude and I had the body but I was blonde."

They were comparing her to her Latino counterparts: Salma Hayek and Penelope Cruz, whose olive skin and brunette locks fitted the stereotypical Latina beauty.

"So I dyed my hair dark for a movie and I immediately started getting jobs because then I really became hot and Latin," she laughs.

All this changed when the now voluptuous 38-year-old landed a role in the 2003 independent film, Chasing Papi.

More movie roles followed, including Four Brothers opposite Mark Wahlberg and guest spots on Entourage and Dirty Sexy Money.

But it was her role as Gloria on the Fox sitcom Modern Family that propelled her to overnight stardom. Now in its second season and a certified global hit, Vergara is not afraid of being typecast.

Shaking her head, she smiles: "No, I'm not afraid of stereotypes because I portray a typical Latino woman who's voluptuous, loud, passionate and personally for me, I wouldn't want to be described in any other way. I don't want to be quiet with no ass and boring. I don't think there is anything wrong with that stereotype because it exists!"

Actor had doubts about Lie to Me role

TIFFANY ROSE
METRO WORLD NEWS, HOLLYWOOD

When British actor Tim Roth, who's best known for his movie roles, was asked to star in the one hour TV drama Lie to Me, he immediately turned it down.

"I said no a couple of times and then I started taking it seriously," he recalls.

"I called around to a few actor friends, and they told me that a television job is seriously hard work and while a lot of them were dissatisfied as actors, they were happy with their bank balance."

He quickly adds: "From a creative standpoint, I was dissatisfied in the first season because I found it hard to adjust to the formula, but then I saw you could actually do something about that if you take it seriously. We gradually made a few changes in his behaviour and in the scripts and now I've grown to love this role."

Lie to Me is inspired by the scientific discoveries of a real life psychologist who can read clues embedded in the human face, body and voice to expose the truth and lies in criminal investigations.

CHRISTMAS PLAYLIST

Sound Check

ALAN CROSS
SCENE@METRONEWS.CA

Tired of Burl Ives' Holly Jolly Christmas? Find yourself screaming whenever you hear Feliz Navidad by Jose Felicano? Then maybe you need to adopt an entirely new Christmas playlist. Here's what's new for 2010:

Christmas is Here by Buckcherry: The result of a bluesy jam designed to come up with a Christmas song, this mid-tempo rocker is surprisingly festive.

Christmas Lights by Coldplay: The last seasonal song from Coldplay was their version of Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas on a tough-to-find 2002 compilation. This new original song sets things up for two U.K. gigs in aid of a British homeless charity called Crisis this Sunday and Monday.

Santa Stole My Lady by Fritz and the Tantrums: There's lots of buzz around this indie band with the huge soul influence. This track sounds like it could have been recorded at Berry Gordy's studio in Detroit in 1968.

▶ Coldplay's Chris Martin

Boots by The Killers: The band still might be on a break as singer Brandon Flowers works his solo record, but everyone came back together for the fifth annual recording of a Killers Christmas single. Proceeds from this year's track will go toward the Product Red campaign, which raises awareness about the scourge of AIDS in Africa.

All songs listed here are available on iTunes.

Brangelina adding more to brat pack?

Jolie tells Larry King they might have another kid

It looks like Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt might not be stopping at the six kids they already have.

Jolie tells Larry King that while they have no immediate plans to add more children to their clan, they "are always open (to the idea)."

Of course, another kid would mean more worry about avoiding paparazzi, Jolie admits.

"Well, we try not to get them into the middle of it," she says.

"We try to get them around things and under things (to hide from paparazzi)."

Nude pics of Aguilera hit the web

TO BE FOLLOWED SHORTLY BY THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF HER REALITY TV SHOW As if all the attention she's getting for her divorce and new relationship weren't enough, Christina Aguilera now has to deal with naked pictures of her being leaked online, according to Hollyscoop.

"The photos of Christina Aguilera being leaked to the press were illegally obtained by a hacker who tapped into Christina's personal stylist's account," her rep says in a statement. "The photos were taken in the privacy of Ms. Aguilera's home and were used only in a personal exchange between the star and her stylist."

Ring coming for Witherspoon?

Reese Witherspoon might have a big surprise headed her way, as her boyfriend, Jim Toth, was reportedly spotted consulting with jewellers for an engagement ring, according to Radar Online.

"He was looking for something pretty big, around three or four carats. Reese probably wouldn't wear anything larger than that since she's not showy," a source says of the CAA talent agent. "Price wasn't an issue."

Get your game on

Farmed game birds will be on many menus for Christmas dinner this year as Canadians opt for something other than turkey

That partridge in a pear tree might well be on your plate for Christmas dinner this year.

Although it is not considered a huge surge in the game bird industry, many Canadians are opting for something new this holiday season.

Dave Meli, owner of the Healthy Butcher in Toronto, says many of the customers for farmed game birds, including pheasant, quail, squab and guinea fowl, partridge and goose, are immigrants.

"Asians are the largest demographic when it comes to game birds," he says. "Others who want to try them often balk at the price of $16 a pound for partridge as opposed to Cornish hens, which retail for $8."

Nevertheless, there is an appetite for game birds to be sure, says Leila Batten, owner of White House Meats at Toronto's St. Lawrence Market. Her firm specializes in a large selection of game birds.

The reason they are pricey is the processing costs charged to farmers, she says. "If you are processing hundreds of thousands, the cost is lower. But when you are looking at under 100 birds you know your costs are going to be higher."

They agree that one of the most popular game birds is Cornish hens. These miniature chickens weigh up to 1.2 kilograms. Because they have a relatively small amount of meat to bone, each hen is usually just enough for one serving. They are best broiled or roasted.

Batten says she is seeing more interest in game birds for small dinner parties, especially couples entertaining in smaller-sized condos.

One bird that is in vogue all year round is duck. The different breeds of ducks include Peking, the smallest, the Muscovy, which is fairly large, and the mallard duck, a cross between a Muscovy and a Peking. All are under 4.5 kilograms.

Serving size

Here's how to gauge how many servings you can expect to get from each bird:

- 1 serving equals 2 quail, 1 to 2 squab, or 1 small duck.
- 2 servings equals 1 pheasant or 1 large duck.
- A large 2 to 2.75 kg (4 to 6 lb) goose should feed 4 to 6 people.

Superfood

Buckwheat is not a cereal grain but a fruit seed and it ranks low on the glycemic scale.

It contains more protein than rice, wheat, millet or corn and is high in the essential amino acids lysine and arginine.

It's gluten free, and its unique characteristics reduce and stabilize blood sugar levels after a meal.

Roasted Pheasants

Preparation:

1. Preheat oven to 220 C (425 F).
2. In a bowl, mix together mustard, paprika, salt, garlic and 125 ml (1/2 cup) of the butter to make a rub for pheasants.
3. Remove excess fat from cavities and necks of pheasants, then rinse and pat dry. Run your finger between skin and flesh of breast and legs of each hen to loosen skin (outside of thighs are easier to access from neck end).
4. Rub spice mix under skin and massage skin from outside to spread evenly over breast and legs. Season hens inside and out with salt and pepper and put half of herb stems in cavity of each bird.
5. Tie legs of pheasants together with kitchen string and close cavity with toothpicks. Brush additional melted butter over birds, if desired.
6. Put pheasants in pan, breast sides up. Roast pheasants, basting every 10 minutes with a brush, until a thermometer inserted in thickest part of a thigh (without touching bone) registers 77 C (170 F), about 35 minutes.
7. Discard string and toothpicks from birds and transfer to a platter. Cover birds loosely to keep warm while making sauce.
8. In a skillet, melt remaining butter. Saute shallots until soft. Skim fat from pan juices and add with chicken broth to shallots. Deglaze by boiling, scraping up brown bits, until reduced to about 125 ml (1/2 cup). Add wine and continue boiling for 1 minute. Pour sauce through a sieve into a sauce boat and spoon over pheasants.
9. Chop additional herbs and scatter over pheasants. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Ingredients:

- 2 whole pheasants, each about 1 kg (2 lb)
- 45 ml (3 tbsp) Dijon honey mustard
- 30 ml (2 tbsp) smoked paprika
- 15 ml (1 tbsp) salt
- 2 garlic cloves, crushed
- 175 ml (3/4 cup) butter, divided
- 4 large sprigs each fresh thyme, fresh tarragon and fresh flat-leaf parsley, leaves and stems separated, plus extra for garnish
- 3 shallots, thinly sliced
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) low-sodium chicken stock
- 125 ml (1/2 cup) white wine

Michael Sauer scored his first career NHL goal with less than six minutes remaining Thursday to give the New York Rangers a 5-3 come-from-behind victory over the struggling Ottawa Senators.

Sauer, a second-year defenceman playing his 27th career game, took a pass in the slot from Brandon Prust on a Rangers power play and fired the puck past Brian Elliott to give New York its only lead of the night.

Mike Fisher scored twice for Ottawa (12-16-2), which has lost two in a row and five of the last six.

Derek Stepan, Ruslan Fedotenko, Erik Christensen and Brandon Dubinsky, into an empty net, had the other goals for the Rangers (17-12-1). Marian Gaborik and Michal Rozsival each added a pair of assists.

Henrik Lundqvist stopped 24 shots to improve to 5-0 in his last five trips to the Nation's Capital.

New York came into Ottawa sporting the league's second-best road record with a 10-4-0 mark, trailing only Pittsburgh (10-3-1), but had to rally on three occasions Thursday to pick up the win.

Fisher scored on the power play in the first, and Jason Spezza added another on a man advantage early in the second for Ottawa. Nick Foligno had a pair of assists and Elliott made 23 saves.

The Senators' 3-1 win over the Rangers in New York on Sunday was their only triumph in the past five games and the only time Ottawa had managed to score more than a goal over that stretch.

The Senators — 4-9-1 in their last 14 — had scored just 17 goals in the previous 12 games and only 21 in 14, but it didn't take them long to strike Thursday.

Foligno picked off a bad pass in front of the Rangers' net from Sauer and fed Fisher on the power play at 2:54 of the first.

The Senators don't have much time to rest before their next game. They play host to the New Jersey Devils on Friday night.

Red Sox, Crawford have deal

A night after Carl Crawford enjoyed a steak dinner with the New York Yankees, he served up a meaty surprise: He is going to play for the rival Boston Red Sox.

The Red Sox struck again at these winter meetings, reaching agreement late Wednesday with the star left-fielder on a $142-million US, seven-year contract.

Boston general manager Theo Epstein wouldn't directly confirm the move Thursday.

"If things come together the way we hope and expect, we'll be really satisfied," he said.

Predictably, the Yankees quickly raised the stakes for their No. 1 target, increasing their offer to prize pitcher Cliff Lee to a seven-year contract. That's up from a six-year proposal worth nearly $140 million.

"He's a premier free agent," Yankees general manager Brian Cashman said. "He's worth waiting for."

A person familiar with the Crawford deal told The Associated Press the agreement was subject to him passing a physical. The person spoke on condition of anonymity because the deal was not yet finalized.

On Monday, the Red Sox announced they had acquired slugging first baseman Adrian Gonzalez in a trade with San Diego.

"You go into every winter with a Plan A, and sometimes it's hard to pull that off and you move on to Plan B and C," Epstein said. "I think adding an impact player was very important for where we were in the short, medium and long term and adding two, as long as they were the right players in the right spots in the right situations, would be even better."

St-Pierre has choice words for opponent

Champion set for fight in his hometown of Montreal

Georges St-Pierre let the cool facade slip Thursday, revealing a rare glimpse of what he truly thinks about challenger Josh Koscheck.

The UFC welterweight champion has ignored Koscheck's jibes and trash-talking ahead of UFC 124.

But as the pre-fight news conference ended Thursday at a Bell Centre restaurant, the 29-year-old from Montreal made his feelings known.

Having defeated Koscheck already at UFC 74 in August 2007, St-Pierre said a second win would knock the brash American well down the 170-pound ladder.

And he made it clear that out of sight would be out of mind.

"So I'm going to beat him Saturday night and it's going to be the end of it," St-Pierre said forcefully. "I'm not going to talk about him for a long, long time and I'm going to feel very happy."

"I'm at my best when I'm under pressure and I can't wait for Saturday night."
GEORGES ST-PIERRE

St-Pierre's forceful words were followed by silence, before Koscheck tried for the last word.

"You like me that much?" he said in a comeback that fizzled.

St-Pierre (20-2) usually keeps his emotions in check, a practice that was tested by Koscheck during six weeks of filming of The Ultimate Fighter when the two served as rival coaches on the reality TV show.

Koscheck (17-4) continues to insist he has got inside St-Pierre's head.

"Yeah, I think I have. And I think that Georges has a lot of pressure coming into this fight," he said.

"He loses to a guy that talked a lot of trash, a guy that isn't very well liked around here. So there's a lot of pressure on him to come out and put me away."

St-Pierre, dressed in a stylish suit, dismissed the suggestion that fighting in his hometown was more of a hindrance than help.

"Wherever the fight is, it's always the same octagon, the same thing. The only thing that has changed is my opponent," he said. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Today's horoscope

For today's crossword answers and for expanded horoscopes, go to metronews.ca

♈ Aries March 21-April 20 A plan of some kind may come unstuck but don't blame it on those around you. As Mercury, planet of communication and the mind, begins its retrograde phase setbacks of one kind or another are to be expected.

♉ Taurus April 21-May 21 You may want to confide in a friend or colleague today but is that wise? Can they be trusted with sensitive information?

♊ Gemini May 22-June 21 Stop counting your losses and start counting your blessings. It may be easy to wallow in self-pity but if you make an effort to look on the bright side today you will quickly realize just how fortunate you are ♋ Cancer June 22-July 22 Chances are you will fall out with a loved one or someone in a position of power over the next 24 hours. But that's okay. Every now and again you have to have these quarrels to clear the air.

♌ Leo July 23-Aug.23 The reason why something that worked well for you in the past now seems to be going wrong is because you made changes that were not needed.

♍ Virgo Aug. 24- Sept. 22 Your opinions could get you into trouble today, especially if what you say offends people in positions of power. Will that warning stop you? Most likely not. With Mercury, your ruler, turning retrograde you just can't help yourself.

♎ Libra Sept. 23-Oct. 23 You may see plots and conspiracies wherever you look but do so many people really have it in for you, or is your imagination playing tricks on you? It's the latter, of course

♏ Scorpio Oct. 24-Nov. 22 Your task today is to do whatever it takes to put the smiles back on the faces of friends and relatives who seem to be a bit depressed.

♐ Sagittarius Nov. 23-Dec. 21 You may be tempted to give up on a plan that isn't making much headway but don't be too hasty. Over the next few weeks, while Mercury is retrograde, you are advised to leave it alone for a bit – but don't abandon it altogether.

♑ Capricorn Dec. 22-Jan. 20 Don't get into a situation where you have to commit yourself to something that you may not want to be associated with in the long-term.

♒ Aquarius Jan. 21-Feb. 18 You will be prone to negative thoughts today, not because anything bad is happening but because your mind is looking for reasons to highlight what's going wrong rather than what's going right.

♓ Pisces Feb. 19-March 20 Compromise is out of the question today.
